Education

Presented by:Sarasi Prarthana

Hi, I'm Sarasi Prarthana, a passionate and motivated individual currently working on software development projects with a strong interest in Java programming, especially in desktop applications using Java Swing. I'm constantly learning and building applications like Student Management Systems and Reservation Systems, and I enjoy solving practical problems with clean, efficient code.,

I'm also exploring web design using HTML & CSS, and I love combining creativity with logic to build user-friendly interfaces. I'm goal-oriented, currently working towards gaining more knowledge and confidence in full-stack development while improving my academic and practical skills.
